1. General information

The Tiroler Silberpfad Trophy is a trail running event that has been held annually in Schwaz, in the Silberregion Karwendel, since 2025. The race starts in Schwaz's old town. Runners can choose between four distances: 11 km, 23 km, 42 km and 86 km. The longest route follows the Tiroler Silberpfad, whilst the 11 km distance was added in 2026. The event offers a friendly, family-oriented atmosphere against the backdrop of the Tyrolean mountains. It is organised by the Tourismusverband Silberregion Karwendel. In 2027, the Tiroler Silberpfad Trophy will take place on 18 September.

2. Routes

Detailed maps and profiles of the four distances are available to view and download on the event website. The routes will be updated should any changes occur. The same applies to start times, time limits and cut-off times, which may be subject to change at short notice. The compulsory equipment is listed in section 6.1 and will be checked before the start. Failure to provide any required items of equipment will result in exclusion from the race. The distances have been measured as accurately as possible. Nevertheless, it is possible that running watches may show slight variations in distance or elevation gain. As running watches normally have a margin of error of up to 5 per cent, this could amount to up to 4.3 km in the case of the 86K.

All decisions in this regard will be made by the race director and communicated via social media and other communication channels.

2.6. Alternative routes

Should the race be unable to go ahead due to weather conditions on the planned routes, the 42K route will be moved to the 23K route and run twice.

For sustainability reasons, no disposable cups will be provided at the refreshment stations. We ask all runners to bring their own soft cup or water bottle. Runners without their own container will not be entitled to drinks at the refreshment stations.

7. Racing rules

7.1. Timing

All races will be run as mass starts. Timing begins when competitors cross the starting line.

7.2. Wearing your race number

All participants must wear their race number in a clearly visible position on their chest, stomach or thigh throughout the race.

With their race number, participants will receive refreshments at the refreshment points, medical care and access to the areas and facilities reserved for runners (luggage storage, showers, etc.)

7.3. Behaviour on the track

Participants undertake to comply with all rules and requirements set out in these regulations and their annexes, as well as with the guidelines and instructions issued by the race committee.

The following rules must be observed in particular:

- Energy gels and bars must be labelled with the race number.
- All participants must follow the course markings.
- Regardless of any explicit rules or instructions, participants must take the necessary precautions, considering the course conditions and weather, so as not to endanger themselves, other participants, organisers or third parties on the course.
- Participants must assist anyone in danger or who has had an accident and must immediately report any accident by telephone to the race committee or an official marshal on the course.
- Participants must keep the course clear and allow others to overtake.
- Participants must protect the environment – no rubbish of any kind may be left on the course.
- Any form of physical assistance (pushing, pulling, carrying, etc.) to a runner is prohibited.

7.4. Withdrawal or disqualification

A runner who encounters difficulties during the race may withdraw from their own accord or be withdrawn from the race by decision of the race committee. A participant may only withdraw at a checkpoint (course marshal) – this does not apply in the event of an injury. In such a case, they must follow the instructions of the race committee. Any participant who fails to meet the time limit will be disqualified and must follow the instructions of the race committee.

8. Results and awards ceremony

8.1. Results

Race results can be viewed live on the official time2win website during the event. Once the race has finished, the final results and rankings for the respective categories will be published there.

If the race is abandoned early, the classification will be based on the order and time of the participants' arrival at the final checkpoint.

8.2. Awards ceremony

The awards ceremony for all races will take place on site. The exact time will be announced on the website in good time. The top three finishers in each category will be honoured. In addition, the overall winners of each distance will be recognised separately.

9. Organisation and Race Committee

9.1. Organisation

The Tiroler Silberpfad Trophy race is organised by the Tourismusverband Silberregion Karwendel.

10. Liability and Insurance

Every participant must have their own personal insurance cover against accidents and other damage. The organiser accepts no liability for personal injury or damage to property. All participants take part at their own risk and on their own responsibility.

By registering, all participants confirm

- that they are fit and in good enough physical condition to complete the advertised route,
- that they are aware of and accept the risks associated with trail running (e.g. risk of falls, weather conditions, terrain),
- that they will comply with the event rules and the instructions of the organising team.

Furthermore, the organiser accepts no liability for lost or damaged items. By registering, the participant expressly acknowledges the disclaimer and, when registering online, legally binds themselves to it by ticking the relevant checkbox.

Should it be in the best interests of the injured person and necessary, the official mountain rescue service will be alerted. From this point onwards, the mountain rescue service will take charge of the rescue operation and deploy the necessary rescue resources, including a helicopter if required. The costs of the rescue and any subsequent transport must be borne by the person concerned. They are also responsible for organising their return journey from the evacuation site. Participants are responsible for reporting the incident in a timely manner and in accordance with their insurance policy's terms and conditions.

11. Legislation

Participation in the race is at the participants' sole responsibility. Participants waive the right to make any claims against the organiser, irrespective of any damage suffered or caused, insofar as such a waiver is permitted by law.

The organiser and all persons and organisations involved in the organisation, in particular governing bodies, staff, contractors, contractual partners and volunteers, shall only be liable in the event of an accident to the extent permitted by law. Liability is excluded to the extent permitted by law.

All participants grant the organiser and any persons authorised by it the right to use images and audiovisual recordings of the race – including the preparatory phase and the period following the race – in which the participant is visible and which were recorded as part of the Tiroler Silberpfad Trophy, in all media (including promotional and/or advertising material) worldwide and without any time limit.

Participation in the race does not entitle participants to use the event for promotional or commercial purposes. Participants are permitted to use and publish photographs of the event for personal purposes. Any use of the event or the associated photographic material beyond this for their own promotional or commercial purposes requires the organiser's prior written consent. The organiser shall determine the conditions for such consent.
